

Message from the President

Welcome to the University of Alberta. Welcome to the world!

Our goal at the University of Alberta is to create an outstanding experience for you, our students. A big part of that is preparing you to meet the demands of the world. Addressing the most pressing global concerns of our time will require international and interdisciplinary collaboration.

How do we foster this international outlook? First, we provide a learning environment where you can study “the big picture.” We offer students a wide array of degrees, programs, and courses, taught by experts in their fields, providing you with multiple opportunities to discover and explore the rich complexity of our world.

Second, we have opportunities that will send you out into the world. You can spend a summer, term, or a year studying, working, or researching overseas while earning credit towards your U of A degree. Take a course at the University of Ghana and see first-hand the challenges of delivering to rural education in Africa, or spend a summer in Germany with a mentor at a top research institution. Our goal is to provide international experience to as many students as possible.

We also bring the world to you. The University of Alberta is proud to be home to students from over 130 countries. At International House you can share in an international potluck dinner with your floormates, learn a new language, explore cultural customs and traditions, and enjoy casual conversations with world leaders. During events such as International Week, you’ll hear from speakers on world issues like poverty and hunger, sustainability and human rights

And finally, we foster an international outlook by providing an unbeatable hands-on research experience. There are great opportunities for undergraduate and graduate students to conduct research in state-of-the-art facilities with world-renowned professors. You could be part of an international team working to perfect the Edmonton Protocol—a way to cure Type 1 diabetes. Or you could travel to Iceland to study hot spring and geyser deposits and look at mineral transformations over time. International research collaboration is revolutionizing the world as we know it and you can be a part of it.

The world is a dynamic place. Complicated, challenging, ever-changing. Our job at the University of Alberta is to prepare you for the world. Your job is to expand your borders.

Indira V Samarasekera, O.C.

Important Notice

By the act of registering for a course or a course of study, each student at the University of Alberta agrees to observe and be bound by the terms of this notice, and the terms, conditions, academic standards, rules, regulations, policies, and codes of behavior contained or referenced in the Calendar. Therefore, it is the student’s responsibility to make himself or herself aware of the contents of the Calendar.

The Calendar sets forth the intention of the University at the time the Calendar was prepared. While the University of Alberta makes reasonable efforts to ensure that the content of the Calendar is accurate, the University of Alberta reserves the right, subject to the authority of General Faculties Council, to make whatever changes it considers necessary to the information referenced in the Calendar or referenced in other documents relating to admission and registration including, but not limited to, the elimination of or changes to courses, programs, organizational structure, tuition and fees, entrance standards, academic standards, degree requirements, University policies, regulations, codes of behaviour and rules. All of the changes referred to above may be made by the University without notice to students or prospective students, although the University of Alberta shall make reasonable efforts to provide notice of such changes to students as soon as practicable. The University is not liable to anyone who may suffer any loss or damages of any type arising from such changes including any loss or damages arising from the interruption of academic activities.

The University of Alberta is a publicly supported, nondenominational, coeducational institution. It is authorized to grant undergraduate and graduate degrees, certificates and diplomas under the provisions of the Post-secondary Learning Act, Statutes of Alberta, 2003, Chapter P-19.5. The University was established under the University Act (Alberta, 1906) and is governed by the Post-secondary Learning Act (Alberta, 2003). The University is a member of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada and the Association of Commonwealth Universities.
